More Good News From New Orleans

Your prayers and God’s hand at work through the lives of the saints in New Orleans are moving mountains. The high places are being leveled and the low places are being lifted up. On July 19-26, 2014, we will all be singing that grand old song: “Oh, when the saints – go marching in; oh, when the saints go marching in. Lord I want to be in that number – when the saints go marching in!” Join us in New Orleans this July 19-26, 2014.

We just received this praise report from Dale and Michelle Sochia: “Our best chance right now to stop Planned Parenthood (PP) from building its new mega-killing center in New Orleans is to contact the concrete companies. There are three in New Orleans, all of which have refused service. PP cannot go out of state to get the concrete. There are distance criteria that cannot be violated. Otherwise, it would compromise the integrity of the concrete.

“We received an awesome praise report this week! A (subcontractor) that was working on the foundation of the new PP in New Orleans has completely pulled out of the project! One of the workers for this company is a Christian and, while on the job, found that he was working on the foundation for an abortion mill. My friend received a prayer request for this man. He was distraught over what his company was building. God supernaturally moved on the heart of the subcontractor, a Hindu, and he pulled his whole company off the (PP) project. Below is the email:

“...Remember when a church member asked for prayer for her brother because he was battling spiritual warfare at work when he realized he was working on a construction project that is to be an abortion clinic? The church member told me this morning at church that a couple hours after she got home from church on Thursday, her brother called her on the phone in tears! His boss, who is a Hindu, literally called him that evening, around the time we were holding our service, and told him that he was pulling out of the project!!!”

I know I keep saying it, but I'm going to say it again:

PRAISE HIM!!!

Shouting Glory!! Dale and Michelle Sochia

“Call to Kissimmee – Planned Parenthood to Build Mega-Killing Center in Kissimmee, Florida!”

The saints in Central Florida have called and asked for our help. We will bring the theology of heaven to the streets of Kissimmee, this June 11-14, 2014. We begin on at 6:30 PM Wednesday evening, June 11, 2014.

Airport: Orlando International. Hotel: Super 8 Kissimmee (407) 877 6121, OSA block – rate: $33 per night!

The battle is heating up in Kissimmee. On May 15 Planned Parenthood held an open house. About 100 Gentle Christians, including pastors and doctors from the hospital across the street, protested on the sidewalk outside while a local Democratic Congressman attended the opening. The interesting thing was that only the congressman, the media, and his entourage, were celebrating. They threw a party and no one came!

There are still many unanswered questions about this clinic. The area is not zoned for surgical centers. PP claims it will help women with mammograms, but it has neither a mammogram machine nor a radiologist. Jenna Tosh, PP President, stated that aspiration abortions were not surgery – since when? The city council is “doin’ a little sidestep” on these issues as they are obviously on PP’s side.

Kissimmee, Florida – Beforeitsnews: Congressman Alan Grayson (D) headlined the most recent ribbon-cutting ceremony of the newest Planned Parenthood clinic, which is situated just a few miles from Disney World.

A group of more than 100 concerned Pro-life Americans protested outside the new facility, holding signs, praying, as well as chanting criticisms and expressing their disgust over the practice of abortion, as well as Congressman Grayson’s unapologetic support for the “medical procedure.”

In addition to holding graphic signs of aborted babies, a couple protesters held up signs reading “Repent Jenna Tosh.” Tosh is Planned Parenthood’s President and CEO, who recently stated that the Kissimmee mega center will target “a largely Hispanic population.” Tosh emphasized several times in the article that the center would target the “ethnic” community and “the young and diverse population” of Osceola County.” In essence, PP is admitting to using racial profiling tactics to specifically target minorities for abortions, and other services.

Shortly before Congressman Grayson arrived, one of Mr.

Grayson’s staffers was overheard saying that Jorge Bonilla, who is Grayson’s Republican congressional opponent, was across the street with the crowd “creeping.” Bonilla later stated that he too was denied entrance to the event, and added some choice words for Grayson’s show of support for PP, who according to Bonilla, has a “racist, destructive mission that is rooted in their history.” It’s interesting and ironic that someone who calls himself a champion of “brown people,” would come here and sponsor a place that targets them for destruction.”-

We tried to get Congressman Grayson’s thoughts about the protesters, but Grayson, who usually embraces the press to make grandiose and ludicrous remarks, blew off the question by simply stating that he had “no thoughts,” as he was whisked through the back entrance of the building.

“They target every race, the majority here is Latin...Anybody that does not respect life, should not be sitting in Congress.”-Lourdes Cancel, protestor

David & Jason Benham in the Vortex of a Firestorm of Liberal Attacks!

The boys know, and have known most of their lives, that they were born for a battle. It is a battle, described in Genesis 3:15, between two seeds – the seed of the serpent and the seed of the woman. The seed of the serpent demands, “My rights, my body, my choice, my thing! I do what I want whenever and wherever I want. I am the captain of my ship, the master of my fate – I am god, hear me roar! My one commandment, ‘Don’t judge me.’”

The flip side of this, is the seed of the woman who cries out from the pages of the Bible, “Not my will but Thine be done. I am bought with a price, I am not my own, therefore I glorify God in my body. My body does not belong to me – it belongs to God. The gifts and talents given me are to be given away to others, just like a fruit tree bears fruit, not for itself, but for others to be nourished and refreshed. And I am called to judge, ‘...a spiritual man makes judgments about all things’ 1 Cor 2:15.

Yes, much to the chagrin of the world and the devil, I am called to make distinctions between that which is good and that which is evil. My measure, my standard, is the Word of God. He alone is the Judge, and we are privileged to deliver His mail – and you got mail!” The boys have been faithful to deliver the mail in these past two weeks. Please keep them in your prayers. Enjoy. And Welcome to the battle! Flip

The Beginning – May 8: “Baseball Bros Not Safe at Home and Garden TV” By Tony Perkins

As major league baseball players, David and Jason Benham were used to a level playing field. In Hollywood, they're finding out that for Christians, there's no such thing. The twin brothers, who were set to launch a home-flipping show on HGTV in October, found out this week that their program is being canceled before it even started!

The network had jumped at the concept of two siblings helping families buy homes they never thought they could afford. In fact, the project was so far along that the Benhams had already filmed several episodes in preparation for the series. Then, in a story eerily similar to Craig James's and the Robertsons', the twins got the news that they'd been dumped by the network for subscribing to a faith that three-quarters of Americans supposedly share. As sons of a preacher, the brothers have never shied away from their beliefs, which led them to back the North Carolina marriage amendment -- a stance the brothers seem to now be paying for, thanks to radical pro-homosexual activists like GLAAD, whose only answer to real diversity is harassment. Now, the same cultural elitists that tried to bully the likes of "Duck Dynasty" are back to silencing anyone who expresses biblical values -- even if those values are expressed outside the workplace.

So remind me again which side is the "tolerant" one? Who commissioned these thought police to decide what issues one can publicly advocate for? Why is advocating for animal rights acceptable, but advocating for the unborn not? Why is it okay oppose public prayer but not okay to oppose the redefinition of natural marriage?

In the meantime, those who've followed the Benhams' careers -- from Liberty grads to the Big Leagues -- know the brothers won't buckle on their beliefs. "If faith costs us a TV show, so be it," they told reporters. "Anyone who suggests that we hate homosexuals or people of other faiths is either misinformed or lying. Over the last decade, we've sold thousands of homes with the guiding principle of producing value and breathing life into each family that has crossed our path -- and we do not, nor will we ever discriminate against people who do not share our views." Obviously, the only thing that needs renovating on HGTV is the network's intolerance.

Next round of assaults- May 15, - Life Site News After HGTV Cancels Show, SunTrust Bank Cancels business deals with Benham brothers by Ben Johnson

First, they lost their show. Now David and Jason Benham's business is threatened, as SunTrust Bank pulled all its properties from the brothers' real estate company, as well as several other franchisees. All, it seems, over their support for traditional marriage.

The brothers' real estate company – the Benham REO Group, which has nearly 100 offices in 35 states – once held “preferred broker” status with the bank. But David and Jason say that longtime economic partnership came to an end without explanation during a 15-minute period on Thursday.

“We were caught off-guard with this one,” David Benham said. “Keeping us off television wasn’t enough, now this agenda to silence wants us out of the marketplace.” They said while they respected the institution's right to make or terminate contracts at will, they noted many of the individual franchisees affected by the decision do not share their views on life or marriage.

“As Americans we find ourselves at a crossroads and are forced with a decision to either stand up or sit down,” he said. “Evidently, SunTrust’s longstanding commitment to diversity must not include our historic Christian values.” Building on his reaction to losing the HGTV show, Jason Benham said, “If our faith costs us our HGTV show and our business, then so be it.”

The HGTV network canceled their scheduled reality show Flip It Forward earlier this month after a left-wing website described the brothers' pro-life, pro-family views. They and their father – Rev. Flip Benham, the founder of Operation Save America – are active in the nation's pro-life movement. Based in Charlotte, they regularly proclaimed the Gospel at “A Preferred Women's Health Center,” where abortionist and accused rapist Ashutosh “Ron” Virmani works. Virmani once told OSA that he aborts “ugly black babies.” However, it was the brothers' activism on behalf of the state's constitutional marriage protection amendment, which 61 percent of North Carolina voters approved in 2012, that fueled most of the Left's activism.

HGTV soon bowed to the pressure, declaring that evangelical Christians are more extreme than racist abortionists accused of rape, or the militant homosexual movement. The home improvement network left the brothers in the lurch, their father, Flip Benham, told LifeSiteNews at the time. They had already begun production on the show, helping six families find a dream home they could not otherwise afford. The family affirmed they would help those families whether or not their good deeds appear on camera. Their father told LifeSiteNews that HGTV was very aware of the boy's Christian worldview and the potential for backlash before it signed them for the show.

But The Church Rose Up – May 16, SunTrust Reverses Decision On Conservative Benham Brothers Daily Caller, Alex Pappas, Political Reporter

After an uproar from conservative customers, SunTrust Bank announced Friday afternoon that the decision to end its relationship with real estate entrepreneurs David and Jason Benham had been reversed.

Earlier Friday, The Daily Caller reported that SunTrust Bank had pulled all of its listed properties with the Benham brothers' bank-owned property business. The move came just a week after HGTV announced it was canceling a planned home renovation show hosted by the Benhams because of their conservative views on abortion and gay marriage.

By Friday afternoon, SunTrust released a statement saying the decision had been reversed. The bank didn't go into detail about why they originally cut ties with the Benham brothers, though SunTrust said the decision was made by a third party vendor. The Daily Caller reported earlier Friday that the vendor had told a Benham Brothers franchisee that the bank itself made the decision. After publication of The Daily Caller's story earlier Friday, conservatives expressed outrage at the bank.

“SunTrust Bank appears to have punished David and Jason Benham by taking action against their business based on their Christian beliefs,” said Chris Stone, the founder of Faith Driven Consumer. “This sends a loud and clear message to people of faith in America, you're not welcome at Sun Trust, take your business somewhere else.”

What a Statement! Jesus said it this way 2,000 years ago, “I have brought you glory on earth by completing the work you have given me to do.” John 17:4. The Benham boys said it this way, May 8, 2014.

“...Our coach taught us to always run through first base. So when we heard that our show was being pulled, only 5 weeks into filming, we had a decision to make – “Do we continue to help these six families and finish the job, or do we simply walk away?” The decision was pretty easy – we're running through first base! With or without the cameras, we are fully committed to helping these six deserving families learn how to flip homes. And you know what....we're super excited to do it! They came to us to learn how to flip homes. Today we are on sight and we are going to coach them all the way through.”

Let's complete the work God has given each one of us to do. Keep storming the gates in Jesus' Name!

See you in New Orleans this July 19-26, 2014.
